Collection Overview

This collection consists of the papers of Norden, native of Sweden, Wilmington resident, and civil engineer specializing in land surveying and title research in southeastern North Carolina for lumber companies, development companies, and the N.C. Department of Public Instruction, perfecting titles to swamp lands owned by the department. There are a large number of title abstracts and related papers; some original land papers from Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, New Hanover, and Pender counties (1782-1940); and copies of land records, court records, and a few wills from these and other counties. His papers as state agent for public lands include correspondence with superintendents of public instruction, and copies of reports by him and his predecessors (1827-1934). Many papers relate to a suit brought by Norden against the Board of Education (1935-1941) about his contract. Papers include report on truck farming near Wilmington (1904); letters from Norden on trip to midwest advertising for immigrant settlers (1905); papers about proposed railways between Wilmington and the beach (1888-1913); and prospectus for development company in Duplin and Pender counties (1921). For the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad there are appraisal reports on land in North Carolina, Georgia, and Florida (1918-1920), and surveys in Brunswick and Columbus counties (n.d.). Also reports on South Carolina timber proposals (1910-1912); correspondence with Cooper River Timber Company (1922-1938) and with N.C. Department of Conservation and Development; and letters and material about Inland Waterway, Croatan National Forest, and a proposed Cape Fear national forest. Personal letters and papers of Norden and wife relate to family in Sweden and Wisconsin, with many letters in Swedish (1892-1917); and to interests such as rare books and North Carolina history. Diaries (1906, 1927-1946) contain brief entries, chiefly about his work. Correspondents include A. T. Allen, A. B. Andrews, Samuel A. Ashe, Josiah W. Bailey, E. C. Brooks, R. D. W. Connor, J. C. B. Ehringhaus (1933), and Clyde A. Erwin. Norden's maps and survey plats (ca. 200 originals and tracings) are housed with the Map Collection at the State Archives of North Carolina.

Collection Inventory

PC.1378.41 Miscellaneous Maps 1740-1944, undated 146.0 items Creator(s): Norden, Eric, 1869-1946 North Carolina. State Board of Education.

Collection Overview

These are map of surveys, mostly in eastern North Carolina, conducted by Eric Norden (1869-1946) either in his capacity as Engineer in Land Matters for the State Board of Education or for clients as a consulting engineer in private practice. Others are maps collected or copied by Norden as reference tools for his work. The majority of the plats are drawn on linen, but there are few Van Dyke and blue line prints. The plats are first grouped by the county in which the land is located, and then alphabetically by place name. A printed guide to the maps in the Eric Norden Collection is available for use in the Archives Search Room. Titles of these maps in MARS may differ from the titles that appear in the printed guide to the Norden Collection and to those duplicates also found in the State Board of Education Plat Book 1.

Related Collections

Related materials are found in the records of the North Carolina State Board of Education, Swamp Lands Records (plat book 1) and the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, Map Collection, among the holdings of the State Archives of North Carolina.

Description of item

This is the map of a survey conducted in January 1928 by Wilmer M. Stubbs of the property of Myers & Rodman near Pinetown in Beaufort County. The map was drawn by L. T. Easley in November 1928. It shows the boundaries of the Myers & Rodman tract, and also shows those portions of the Myers & Rodman tract that had been part of original land grants to Eleazar Jackson, John Moore and Joseph Dwight. The survey was apparently done as a result of a boundary dispute with one J. H. Boyd.

Description of Item

This map was prepared from surveys by W. W. Burnham and H. deW. Rapalje and shows the plan for the Artesia Colony, an unsuccessful cooperative farm community of Polish and Dutch immigrants. Artesia was one of six cooperatively-organized farm colonies established by Hugh MacRae under the auspices of the Carolina Trucking Development Company along the railroad lines forty miles north and west of his business operations in Wilmington. The map portrays the layout for the town on both sides of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and the division of the farm land into numbered lots. Adjoining property owners are also identified.

Description of Item

Miscellaneous Maps

This map of the New River was prepared by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers from reconnaissance of October and November 1912 with ships compass. Distance was estimated by time observations. Field work was performed by H. T. Paterson and office work by N. T. Paterson and Alfred von Siller. The map was printed by the Norris Peters Co., lithographers, of Washington, D.C. It accompanied a report dated March 5, 1913 from Major H. W. Stickle of the Wilmington Engineer Office to the Chief Engineer. The map depicts the river from Jacksonville inland to Doctors Bridge located two and one-half miles below Richlands. Topography on both sides of the river is depicted pictorially, and bridges, landings, and other landmarks are identified. A vicinity map drawn at a scale of 10 miles to 0.9 inch appears as an inset in the upper right corner.

Description of Item

This map was prepared by the U.S. Army, Corps of Engineers, under the direction of Major Horton W. Stickle. The survey was conducted in December 1912 by Carl J. Josenhans and J. M. Martin; drafting was by Carl J. Josenhans. The map accompanied a report in February 1913 from Major Stickle to the chief of engineers, U.S. Army. The course of the Shelter River or, more commonly, Holly Shelter Creek is depicted from the point it joins the Northeast Cape Fear River at Bannermans Bridge to a point twenty miles to the northeast. Soundings are reported; and tributary streams, landings, and other landmarks are identified. A map of the creek from mile twenty to mile twenty one and one half drawn to the same scale as the main map appears as an inset in the upper right. A vicinity map drawn at a scale of 8 miles to the inch appears as an inset in the lower left.

Description of Item

This map was prepared by H. deW. Rapalje for the Southern Map Company, and it shows the plats giving the locations of tracts of land making up the Van Eeden farm colony. Van Eeden was one of six cooperatively-organized farm colonies established by Hugh MacRae (1865-1951) under the auspices of the Carolina Trucking Development Company in efforts to settle European farmers on tracts in southeastern North Carolina, hoping their industrious backgrounds and intensive farming methods could revitalize agriculture in the state. In 1909, MacRae and Frederik Van Eeden (1860-1932), a Dutch medical doctor who had experimented with communal farm colonies in Holland, establish the Van Eeden colony in Pender County. MacRae and Van Eeden hoped to attract Dutch immigrants to settle on the farms in the colony, but the colony was not a success. In 1939, MacRae sold 100 acres of the remaining land to a New York corporation, headed by Dr. Alvin Johnson of the New School for Social Research in New York, as a colony for the resettlement of Jewish refugees and others fleeing Nazi Germany. The map shows each available tract divided into 10 acre farm plots. Roads, railroads, waterways, and other landmarks are also shown.

Description of Item

This is a tracing, probably by Eric Norden, of a map of a survey conducted by Daniel Campbell in 1816. It portrays an area on the Cape Fear River, possibly in Bladen County, in the vicinity of Nat Moore and Simmons creeks and shows the plats giving the locations of tracts of land belonging to Matthew Rowan and others.
